

Paul TABAR

Professor of Sociology and Director of the Institute for Migration Studies at the Lebanese American University (LAU)

Paul Tabar is the director of the Institute for Migration Studies and a Professor in Sociology/ Anthropology at the Lebanese American University, Beirut campus. He is the author of Arab Communities in Australia (Arab Centre for Arab Unity Studies, 2013) and the co-author of On Being Lebanese in Australia: Identity, Racism and the Ethnic Field (Institute for Migration Studies, LAU, 2010), Bin Laden in the Suburbs: Criminalising the Arab Other (Institute of Criminology, 2004) and Kebabs, Kids, Cops and Crime: Youth, Ethnicity and Crime (Pluto Australia, 2000). He is currently working on Lebanese diasporic communities and their diasporic public activities. He is also working jointly with Greg Noble on a book on migrant habitus focusing on Lebanese Australians as a case study. Dr. Tabar has published many articles on Lebanese and Arab migrants in international journals. He is the editor of a book series on Migrant Studies in collaboration with Professor Anton Escher (Johannes Gutenberg University in Mainz, Germany), and a member of the editorial board on Idafat the Arab Journal of Sociology.

Jeudi 19 mai 2016, 9h-18h

Learning to be Lebanese: fashioning an ethnicised habitus in multicultural Australia dans le cadre du séminaire "Frontières et Mouvements de la ville" de Michel Agier

EHESS-IISMM, salle M. & D. Lombard (RdC), 96 boulevard Raspail, 75006 Paris

Vendredi 3 juin 2016, 15h-17h

The Lebanese Diasporic Field: the Impact of Sending and Receiving States dans le cadre du séminaire "La question palestinienne : quelles comparaisons possibles ?" de Véronique Bontemps

EHESS-IISMM, salle de réunion (1^{er} étage), 96 bd Raspail, 75006 Paris

Lundi 6 juin 2016, 17h-19h

Political Remittances: The Case of Lebanese Expatriates Voting in National Elections dans le cadre du séminaire "Sociétés urbaines méditerranéennes. Histoire et anthropologie" de Meropi Anastassiadou et Timour Muhidine

INALCO, salle 3.15 (3^{ème} étage), 65 rue des Grands Moulins, 75013 Paris